

the art of medicine

I made some medicine for when you are sick.

I happened to be sick all the time.

It was hard to take care of the places I call home.

I'm here everyday.

During my routine, I was sent a reminder.

The places that surround me are beautiful.

Even if there wasn't much,

I took the time to observe.

Even when the color is hard to make out,

A canvas let me restore them.

Eventually what I loved just fell into my hands.

And through days of medication, my sickness went away.

So if you're ever feeling sick,

I'm here everyday.
